Hi there! Here is how to to effectively use the Image Repository:

1. Identify your need + classify based on location + keyword + date
2. Construct a search query* (make sure to search by "title:YOURSE===ARCHTERM" for best results!)

*A search query for Drive utilizes advanced parameters to sift through large data

 - search by [KEYWORD]

 - search by [GENERATED DESCRIPTION]

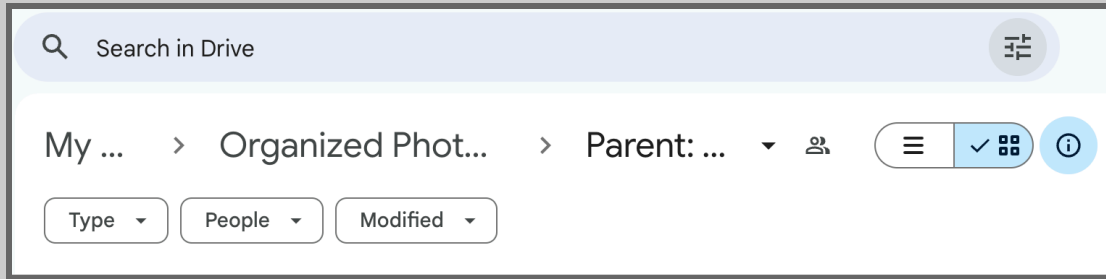

3. If you know WHEN the photo you want was taken, you can search by MM-DD-YYYY to find all photos from certain trips. Simply type the date in, or use advanced settings to further narrow your results down.

Here is a popular Use Case for the photo repo:

Say you are looking for city pictures of Monaco. Because Monaco is a keyword, there will be a folder that my email has created.

Two easy steps:

1. Navigate to the "advanced settings" button (the rightmost button on the search bar in this screenshot

A quick diagram to show how this repository is organized:

[AI detected categories create the primary folder. Then, keywords are picked up from the previous file data, creating the next nested folder. Eventually a new image file is created, which follows the renaming etiquette:

“File_Summary_MM-DD-YYYY” - this allows us to search based on keyword, location, date, and more!]
